Sharyne Wolfe : The Fashionista's Shopping Guide to the Galaxy of Discount New York Fashion before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Fashionista's Shopping Guide to the Galaxy of Discount New York Fashion:

I don't need a NY Fashionista to tell me I can find bargains at HM and Forever 21; I can do that at any mall in the country. And since the author lists the address of every location in NYC and Long Island for each chain she mentions, more than half the book is lists of addresses! There are no secret sources here, and little that you don't already know.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Saved the Day!By Janet CellaThis book arrived the same day as my daughter's 6 bridesmaids. We had planned to take the girls around sightseeing but, as with all weddings, we were deluged with unexpected dilemmas and last minute details to address. We gave the girls "The Fashionista's Shopping Guide" and hoped for the best. While we were arguing with caterers and florists, they were exploring the city and discovering "best kept shopping secrets". All six girls arrived back at our house loaded down with shoes, jewelry, bargains and vintage clothes and a great NY experience! A wonderful book for everyone who loves clothes!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. This book is just an alphabetical list of stores with ...By S. H. CripeThis book is just an alphabetical list of stores with addresses. No other information. Not even listed by area! Very small print too!

Updated for 2015/2016, "The Fashionista's Shopping Guide to the Galaxy of Discount New York Fashion" is for those of you with a passion for fashion but without the bank account to support it. It is a compilation of clothing and accessory discounters, consignment shops, wholesalers and other discount fashion shopping options in both New York and on Long Island that will provide you with the most bang for your buck. Whether it be old standards like Century 21 and TJ Maxx, newcomers to the discount scene, or little known shops that sell fashion and accessories for less, you will be able to look like you strutted off the runway for a fraction of department store prices. Included are shops that sell a cross section of styles for different target markets and vary stylewise from the latest cutting edge European imports to the more classic looks of American ready to wear. So, whether you're a 20 something trendsetter or a 50 something lover of classic styling there are alternatives provided. Listings cover both New York and Long Island and contain addresses, phone numbers, website, return policy, directions, and some even give suggestions for restaurants. Carrie Bradshaw might know great sex, but Sharyne Wolfe knows great shopping.

About the AuthorBorn and raised in New York City, Sharyne Wolfe is a fashion design graduate of Fashion Institute of Technology. She has a master's degree in Clothing and Textiles from NYU. She has worked in the areas of costume design for Radio City Music Hall; has designed mass market junior sportswear, sold her childrenswear to top Madison Avenue boutiques and designed custom leather clothing for the rock group, Fleetwood Mac. She has also designed shoes and designed handbags that she sold to Bloomingdale's. She has been a professor of fashion design for the last twenty-five years and was one of the authors of the design program at Nassau Community College in New York. She has mentored over one thousand design students who are, or have been employed in top positions for companies like Tracey Reese, Cynthia Steffe, Cynthia Rowley, Sears/KMart, Perry Ellis, Victoria's Secret and Derek Lam. She is an consummate shopper and trolls the stores regularly to unearth the best for less.
