From BooklistCutting-edge floral design is associated with lavish traditional arrangements in this exquisitely produced compendium replete with color photographs. Under the distinguished sponsorship of the Garden Club of America, this sweeping survey presents the most creative approaches to combining plant material and complementary vessels. Pictured are contemporary displays in which leaves take the form of sculptural lines in space, echoing the similarly undulating curves of a ceramic vase. The accompanying text provides an introduction to the history of flower arranging, followed by instructive descriptions of glorious arrangements spanning romantic rococo style to stunningly modern compositions. Anyone inclined toward interior design or an interest in gardening will find a rich source of ideas and inspiration both for the home and for special events.
