This volume offers 20 woodburning projects that range from jewellery to furniture. There are step-by-step directions and photographs, plus patterns and templates to copy. Simply trace onto the wood, and then burn over the lines. Learn to shade, stipple and even add colour.

From Library Journal Decorative woodburning has been practiced since Victorian times and had a period of popularity as a children's craft after World War II. Recent improvements in equipment ensure better results, and this craft is now undergoing a revival. These projects by several artists are for beginners and include step-by-step instructions for decorating purchased wooden items or gourds. A section of design templates is included. This is a good selection for public libraries. Copyright 2000 Reed Business Information, Inc.
