The photography is top notch.The book is great if you are looking for ideas, but what I was really hoping for was a book with both ideas and instructions on how to make the projects. A few projects did instruct you but most did not. I think the book is a keeper, and if I decide to attempt to make any of the projects in here, I'll just find the materials and figure it out on my own.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Things for your walls and gardenBy S. WallaceNot what I was expecting. More nick-nacky than household furnishings. Things for the walls and table tops and garden, that kind of things. Good color pictures and a variety of rustic art. I bought the book used and got enough value out of the book to be pleased with it. 8 of 8 people found the following review helpful. Great for the coffee table...By PicOlioIt is a high quality book as far as paper and ink and pictures go. It would make a great edition as a show piece to thumb through. Unfortunately, I was hoping more for realistic, rustic, designs and instructions for turning found elements into artistic pieces for my home rather than simply looking at what other people have done in their homes.... Ideas -- yes... Great Ideas? Not so much. Instructions? Nope...

From an idyllic lakeside cabin to a sophisticated urban apartment, decorative woodland accents can bring a unique charm to any home. Artist Marlene Hurley Marshall shows you how to capture the beauty and serenity of nature in stylish wreaths, frames, and furniture. Featuring dazzling photography by Sabine Vollmer von Falken, Woodland Style will inspire you to creatively use pine cones, moss, bark, and river rocks as you fill your home with a welcoming, rustic look that is completely your own.

From the Inside FlapEnjoy the Outdoors Inside Bring the beauty and serenity of a walk in the woods into your home. Hand-gathered collections of acorns and moss, twigs and bark, and leaves and wildflowers are the main elements in natural home decorations, lending texture, scent, and warmth to interior settings of every style. Marlene Hurley Marshall's "Woodland Style" is a beautiful tour through the possibilities for living with nature. From the wonderful creations of a talented array of woodland artists and designers to Marshall's personal interpretations of woodland chic, here are dozens of lovely ways to enhance any home with treasures from the woods. Use one perfect pinecone and a length of fabric to make a simple curtain tie or gather enough velvety moss to transform a small garden table -- the ideas and instructions are here for you to explore. There are also tips and techniques for collecting, cleaning, and preserving woodland materials and a delicious chapter on foraging and cooking with morels, fiddleheads, ramps, and other wild plants. The woodland elements you love outside now have a lovely home inside. About the Author There's much experience behind author Marlene Hurley Marshall's book, Making Bits Pieces Mosaics, for she has been creating her own mosaic masterpieces for over a decade. Marlene's work has been exhibited and sold in galleries and museums shops alike in Boston, San Francisco and the Berkshire region of Massachusetts, where she resides.
